Chapter 1 by Emster

I was made for one purpose.
To protect the people of earth.
The humans.
They created me.
Therefore I must thank them, by protecting them.
It is my duty.
It is my law.
I am Synthesiser.

Chapter 2 by Fanwizard

It wasn't always like this.
Once I was just pieces, broken pieces that Dr. Folcard had used to create me.
Dr. Folcard never finished his task of completing me. He died of a sudden heart attack when his project was only halfway finished.
His assistant, Lucas, had taken over, promoting himself from assistant to creator.

Lucas was the first person I protected.

But he too had met an unlucky fate. He was killed by a mysterious illness for three months but unluckily came down with a mysterious illness.

I had not been present at the Great War against other people that had invaded our land and threatened to murder all the children in their sleep.

According to a messenger, Lucas's last words were asking to tell me to keep my duty and law.
Then he died.
They ask who I am when they see me.
I am Synthesiser.
